1. Adolescent reproductive health refers to the physical, emotional, and social aspects of sexual and reproductive development during adolescence (ages 10-19). This period is marked by significant changes, including puberty, the development of sexual identity, and the formation of relationships. Addressing adolescent reproductive health is crucial for promoting healthy development and preventing issues like early pregnancy, sexually transmitted infections (STIs), and unsafe sexual practices.
2. In line with this, the Schools Division Office of Tacurong City – School Health and Nutrition Unit in partnership with the Youth Formation Development Focal Person, City Health Office and City Social Welfare and Development Office will conduct a series of advocacy campaigns in selected schools to provide accurate information about puberty, sexual health, contraception, bullying and other ARH related topics to help adolescents make informed choices.
3. Enclosed are the schedule of schools and expected participants for your references and appropriate action.
4. Wide dissemination of this Memorandum is desired.
